THE ARCHONS HAVE PLEDGED $1 MILLION

The Archons of the Ecumenical Patriarchate in America are leading the rebuilding effort of St. Nicholas Greek Orthodox Church and National Shrine. Not only is the Order raising $1,000,000 from its members but many Archons have answered the call above and beyond the Order's $1,000,000 pledge. Altogether, Archons and their families have committed at least $22,567,865 and those who have pledged/given $1M or more directly to St. Nicholas are:

Michael Jaharis Family ($6M)
Nicholas J. Bouras Foundation
John Calamos Family
George Coumantaros Family
William Doucas Family
John Georges Family

George Marcus Family
Dean Metropoulos Family
John Pappajohn Family
Michael Psaros Family
Alexander Spanos Family
Nicholas Tsakalos Family

Further supporting the rebuilding, Archons are donating work and materials at St. Nicholas, free of charge. Archon Peter Pappas Sr., is donating all the HVAC work, which is worth $1.3M. Archon Paul Bregianos is donating $1.4M worth of electrical work and materials at our Shrine.

HIS ALL-HOLINESS

BARTHOLOMEW

ARCHBISHOP OF CONSTANTINOPLE-NEW ROME
AND ECUMENICAL PATRIARCH

We have been blessed by the all-merciful God to serve the Holy and Great Church of Christ, to be heirs and trustees of its most sacred traditions, which we are obliged “without in the least swerving from our obligation” to hand down in all their integrity to future generations. Our power is spiritual; it is the imperishable strength of our Orthodox faith. To adopt the words of a faithful son (Constantine Vlachos) of the Church:

“Nurtured by its centuries-old tradition,
the Phanar ...

endures within walls
that are not made by human hands –
walls raised by the apostle-emperor and sponsor, successive emperors, a cloud of witnesses,
and countless departed.

It endures and creates; it survives and thrives;
it consoles and guides the whole world;
it provides depth and meaning to its history.
It is assailed by its foolish children; yet it forgives and loves, entering everywhere that a door of communion opens.
It radiates like a spiritual sun and attracts the respect of all churches and religions.
When human resources are exhausted,
then divine miracles unfold.”

We offer glory to the good and sovereign Trinitarian God for the “great miracle” of the Great Church of Christ in this great City of Constantine.”

Religious leaders and dignitaries from around the world offered congratulatory messages to His All-Holiness on the occasion of his 25th anniversary of enthronement as Ecumenical Patriarch. The following pages contain excerpts from several letters that were received and also quotes taken from the new biography Bartholomew: Apostle and Visionary.

Vice President Joe Biden

But what impressed me most is the way His All-Holiness embodies our Christian faith—thoroughly and completely. To put it simply, he is one of the most Christlike men I have ever met.”

Hillary Clinton

I have had the great honor of seeing Patriarch Bartholomew’s spiritual leadership for myself, and am inspired by his work on human rights, religious tolerance, and environmental protection. I send my best wishes to His All Holiness on this momentous milestone.

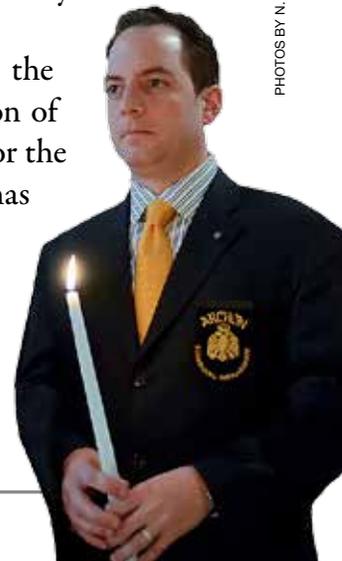

Chief of Staff Archon Reince Priebus

I am writing this letter to wish you a most sincere congratulations on your twenty-fifth anniversary as Ecumenical Patriarch. Your steadfast conviction to the Orthodox Church has set an example for Orthodox Christians around the world. As the Bible says, “Blessed is the man who trusts in the Lord” (Jeremiah 17:7). Recently, the members of all different religious groups have been plagued by violence, contempt, and division.

Your inter-religious dialogue, promotion of religious freedom and human rights for the last twenty-five years has provided members of the Christian faith with a steadfast vision of hope. The dedication you have shown in fighting against religious persecution, pushing for the reopening of the Halki Seminary, and the reconciliation among Christian Churches has promoted the Orthodox faith and has set an example that all humans, from world leaders to ordinary members of society, should strive to emulate.

As an Archon of the Order of St. Andrew, I want to express my utmost gratitude for your service and dedication to the Orthodox Church. Your leadership is inspired myself and many others to defend and promote the Orthodox Christian faith and tradition. Again, I wish you congratulations and pray for many more years of success. Axios!

President Barack Obama

I am pleased to join in paying tribute to His All-Holiness, Ecumenical Patriarch Bartholomew, as he marks the 25th anniversary of his election as Ecumenical Patriarch.

Guided by the teachings of his faith, His All-Holiness, Bartholomew, has long been a pillar of wisdom and enlightenment for people around the world. His work--whether promoting peace and reconciliation, standing for human rights and freedoms, supporting refugees, or encouraging us to be stewards of the one planet we share--has helped transcend divides that have set people apart throughout history. At the heart of his efforts lies a fundamental truth about our common humanity: that it is our sacred obligation to spend our time here on Earth working together to forge a brighter future for all--including for generations that have not yet come to be.

I hope the years ahead bring continued blessings to Ecumenical Patriarch Bartholomew's ministry, and I send all those marking this special milestone my very best wishes.

Patriarch Daniel of Romania

Your Holiness' personality and intense activity, both in ecclesiastical and in other spheres of life is well known and appreciated in the whole of the Orthodox Church and also respected throughout the rest of the Christendom and in the world at large. Thus, throughout your entire service as Ecumenical Patriarch, Your Holiness have constantly promoted the role and place of each sister Orthodox Church in strengthening and deepening the panorthodox unity and in assuming responsibility towards solving humanitarian crises within the contemporary society, through specific assistance.

Patriarch Ilia of Georgia

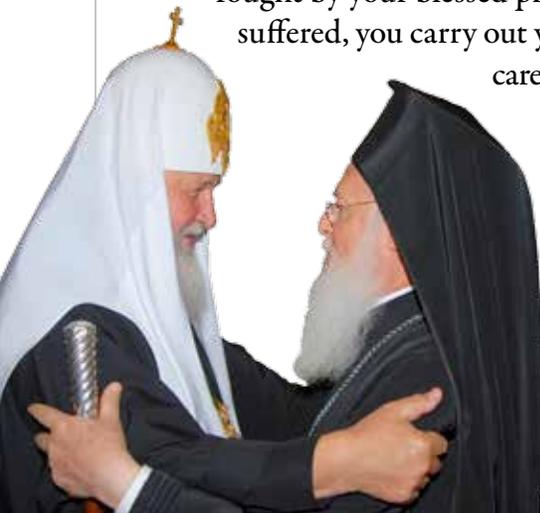

We wholeheartedly congratulate you on the 25th anniversary of your enthronement. In our era of controversies, it is an arduous labour to bear the Cross of the foremost hierarchy; the Patriarchate of Constantinople has always been the arena of universal interests and spiritual battles; therefore the Lord has bestowed upon you a heavy and honourable mission. The Church of Georgia has many times had your support, love and respect. We trust your wisdom and thoughtfulness and hope that, despite the existing problems, you will be the person to advocate peace and unity among the Orthodox Churches.

Patriarch Kirill of Moscow

A quarter of a century ago the Lord of peace, Who has a wise dispensation towards His Church, laid on your shoulders a laborious cross of Patriarchal ministry. You were elected to the see, which is covered with the imperishable glory of the great teachers and saints: John Chrysostom, Gregory the Theologian and other holy fathers pleasing unto the Lord. Finding inspiration in "the good fight of faith" (1 Tim 6:12), fought by your blessed predecessors, and bearing in mind all the afflictions and hardships that they suffered, you carry out your Primatial ministry and overcome various temptations, taking a zealous care of the good of the Church and being firm in your trust in God.

During your decades-long Primatial ministry, you have been bearing an active witness to the Orthodox faith in the non-Christian milieu, making considerable efforts aimed at promoting peace and accord among the nations, and zealously defending the human life, the environment and the whole creation of God. Such manifold activities of the Holy Church of Constantinople have received recognition both in the Christian world and beyond, thanks to, among other things, the talents that God granted to you in abundance and that you strive to cultivate.

*I*t was a source of great joy for me during our recent meeting in Assisi to be able to express personally to Your Holiness my congratulations on the twenty-fifth anniversary of your election as Archbishop of Constantinople and Ecumenical Patriarch. I assure you, beloved Brother in Christ, of my spiritual closeness on this significant anniversary, as I join you in a prayer of thanksgiving to God the Father, source of all good, for the abundant blessings he has bestowed upon your life and ministry and, through you, upon the Church. In expressing my heartfelt best wishes for your health and spiritual joy, I renew to Your Holiness the sentiments of my steadfast esteem and friendship, and I willingly exchange with you a fraternal embrace in the Lord.

*O*n this auspicious and joyful anniversary of Your venerable and sacred enthronement, I respectfully submit my heartfelt wishes for Your longevity in abundance of health in body and in spirit, and for the luminous continuation of Your prominent apostolic ministry for the edification of the Orthodox Church in the world and for the glory of the Holy Name of our Triune and worshipped God.

*B*ringing to the office a profound spiritual maturity and theological sophistication, His All-Holiness Patriarch Bartholomew has shown how a hierarchical office that is without most of the conventional trappings of executive power can act as a means of theological witness, a potent sign, an office that holds up before the world (Orthodox and non-Orthodox) the central vision of faith ... in the crucified and glorified Word of God

Archon George Stephanopoulos

*I*n the twenty-five years since his election as ecumenical patriarch, Bartholomew has propelled the ancient Church of the East into the modern world. ... His All-Holiness has tackled the thorniest issues of our age: confronting intolerance and religious violence, preaching stewardship of our planet's fragile ecology, engaging in prayerful dialogue across the borders of Christendom and Islam.

“My soul magnifies the Lord and my spirit rejoices in God my Savior; for He has regarded the low estate of His servant, whom He called to guide the spiritual vessel of the Great Church at this crucial moment in history, deeming him worthy today of completing a quarter of a century on the Throne of the First-Called Apostle Andrew and his successor Stachys, as well as numerous Saints and Peers of the Apostles that served as First-Hierarchs of this Church.”

*T*he profoundly relevant spiritual message of love, peace, mutual respect and environmental responsibility His All-Holiness has proclaimed throughout his 25-year Diakonia and Martyria as Ecumenical Patriarch resonates powerfully throughout the oikoumene. His intrepid leadership as our Spiritual Father presiding over the Holy and Great Council, the first such synaxis since the Seventh Ecumenical Council of 787, demonstrated his vision to respond to the needs and concerns of his global flock, breathe new spiritual vitality into their daily lives and bear witness to the unity of the faith in the bond of peace (Ephesians 4:3).

May our Lord and Savior grant unto His All-Holiness all peace, health and length of days, so that he may ever rightly divide and teach the Word of His Truth (2 Timothy 2:15). Πολλά Τά Ἔτη Σας!

Pope Emeritus Benedict

*H*is All-Holiness Bartholomew is a truly ecumenical patriarch in every sense of this word. In fraternal solidarity with Pope Francis, he is making additional important steps on the path to unity.

Jane Goodall

I was immensely heartened by the strong commitment of His All-Holiness to the protection of the environment. His vision is holistic: he links scientific facts about our destruction of natural resources with the religious ethic: God surely did not mean for us to destroy, for short-term profit, the rich biodiversity of His creation.

“All of us – those Hierarchs of the Throne who live here and those who live throughout the world – have together struggled to protect the rights of the Throne, defined and defended “by ecumenical and synodal decrees,” in order to serve from our respective positions of obligation and responsibility the Pan-Orthodox unity and cooperation, thereby revealing the Phanar as a spiritual source and endless spring.

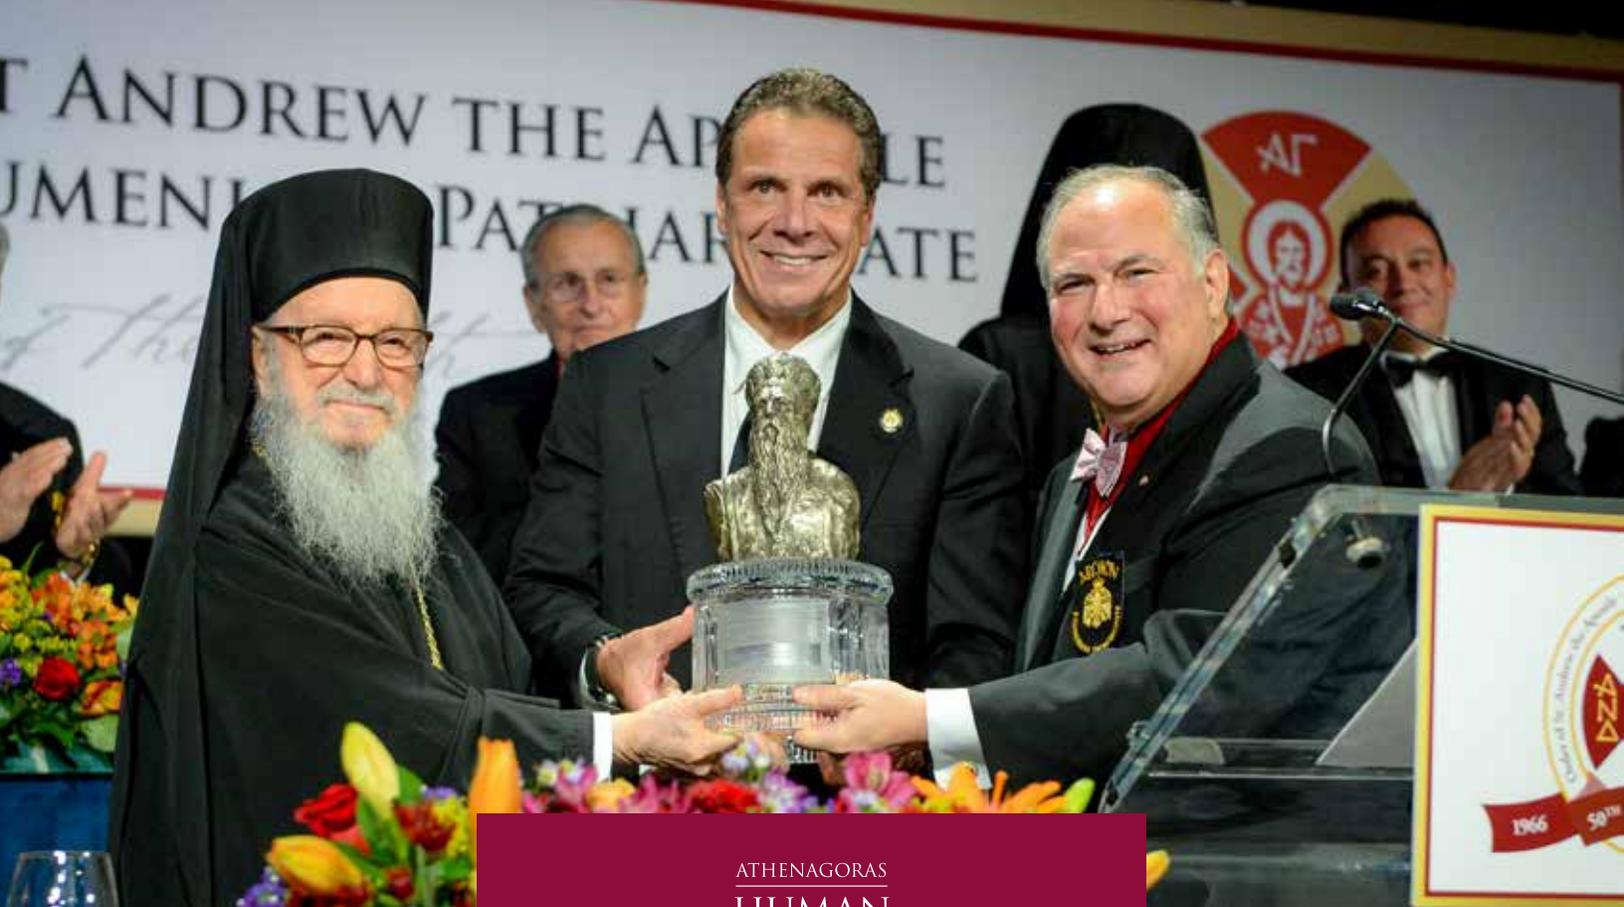

Indeed, this Church will also continue its God-pleasing ministry in the future because its duty and divinely-mandated mission is to preach the life and resurrection of the world, which is none other than Christ, “our hope”, “the alpha and omega, the first and last, the beginning and end.”

THE HONORABLE ANDREW M. CUOMO
GOVERNOR OF NEW YORK

Archbishop Demetrios of America, Exarch of the Ecumenical Patriarchate together with Archon National Commander Dr. Anthony J. Limberakis presented the Athenagoras Human Rights Award to New York Governor Andrew M. Cuomo at the New York Marriott Marquis, Oct. 15, 2016. Governor Cuomo has been a strong advocate for religious freedom for the Ecumenical Patriarchate, and was the instrumental person in the process of securing an agreement with the Port Authority of New York and New Jersey regarding the rebuilding and resurrection of St. Nicholas Greek Orthodox Church and National Shrine at the World Trade Center--the only house of worship destroyed in the terrorist attacks of September 11, 2001.

In recognizing the Governor's long history and connection to the Ecumenical Patriarchate, the National Commander said, "[In 1990] Governor Mario Cuomo and his beloved wife Matilda, hosted Patriarch Dimitrios, Metropolitan Bartholomew of Chalcedon, and the entire Patriarchal retinue at the World Trade Center. It was a quintessential New York moment, and in the midst of that fellowship and fraternity high atop the Twin Towers, who could have ever imagined that those Towers would come crashing down in the most horrific attack on United States soil in our history, ripping away three thousand lives... and one small church."

Dr. Limberakis praised Governor Cuomo, saying, "And then decades later, after the terror of those days, the continuous healing for the bereft families, and the long struggle to rebuild Ground Zero back into the World Trade Center, it was you, Governor Cuomo, in the same position as your ever-memorable father, who led the way to a solution for the little Church that ultimately comes under the Ecumenical Patriarch. You provided the Solomon-like wisdom that we needed to bring the Church and the Port Authority to the very happy conclusion that Saint Nicholas would be rebuilt at Ground Zero.

You brought full circle the hospitality of your father at the World Trade Center... by finding a just and equitable solution for the World Trade Center. You merit our thanks and our praise for your central role in providing fairness and justice to the decision process surrounding Saint Nicholas. Perhaps in this we see a small consequence of the fact that your name is "Andrew," the first-called Disciple who founded the Church of Constantinople, and

"As Governor of the State of New York, one of a handful of beautiful accomplishments that I'll have for the rest of my life, is being able to visit that new St. Nicholas. Knowing what it stands for. Knowing who built it. Knowing what it means to the Greeks. Knowing what it means to the world."

at the 9/11 Memorial."

In his response, Governor Cuomo said, "When Archbishop Demetrios spoke about St. Nicholas, I heard Archbishop Iakovos' voice, I heard my father's voice. I heard them saying what better place than 9-11 to have a monument, a sanctuary that says we are all one people and all are invited to one, holy place. St. Nicholas is going to be the only Church on Ground Zero with a beautiful history, there since 1916, one of the first places that the Greek immigrants would visit. The first touch stone, they would land on Ellis Island and they would take a ferry over and St. Nicholas was right there downtown so they could get off that boat and they could step into a Church where they felt comfortable and they felt reassured with the peace of home. A beautiful history, but also a beautiful future."

The Governor continued, "Because the new St. Nicholas is going to be bigger and better than ever. Saying on the side of 9-11, the side of the greatest hate, I offer you love. That's what St. Nicholas is going to say, because love is better than hate. I offer you inclusion, because inclusion is better than exclusion. I offer you good, because good defeats evil. And I give you a place of holiness and beauty to say, 'we are one and let us come together and focus on our similarities and let's disregard our differences'. That is St. Nicholas. That's why Archbishop Demetrios stayed on this project with his quiet persistence year after year, after year. That's why the State of New York made a terrible mistake for all those years where they didn't honor their original agreement to build St. Nicholas. And that's why as Governor of the State of New York, one of a handful of beautiful accomplishments that I'll have for the rest of my life, is being able to visit that new St. Nicholas. Knowing what it stands for. Knowing who built it. Knowing what it means to the Greeks. Knowing what it means to the world. I ask for one thing: In one corner, a little picture of two great friends, two great men who always believed we could be better than we are--Archbishop Iakovos and Mario Cuomo."

Religious leaders praise Ecumenical Patriarch as a great ecumenist

By Junno Arocho, Esteves Catholic News Service

ASSISI—As leaders of dozens of religions gathered in Assisi for dialogue and prayers for peace, they honored Orthodox Ecumenical Patriarch Bartholomew of Constantinople as an exemplar of one who is so deeply rooted in his own religious tradition that he can reach out to others without fear.

Jewish, Anglican and Catholic leaders paid tribute to Patriarch Bartholomew as he was about to celebrate the 25th anniversary of his enthronement as spiritual leader of the world's Orthodox Christians. Pope Francis was scheduled to participate in a celebratory luncheon for the patriarch Sept. 20 in Assisi.

The Assisi celebrations Sept. 18-20 were organized by the Rome-based Community of Sant'Egidio, the Diocese of Assisi and the Franciscan friars.

In a formal meeting hall at the Basilica of St. Francis in Assisi Sept. 19, the leaders praised Patriarch Bartholomew as an ecumenist, theologian and leading religious defender of God's creation.

Anglican Archbishop Justin Welby of Canterbury presided over the tribute to the patriarch, and Cardinal Walter Kasper, former president of the Pontifical Council for Promoting Christian Unity, gave the main talk, highlighting how "with great tact in difficult situations" the patriarch "always helped to overcome complicated twists and turns with the grand dexterity of a 'pontiff,' that is, a builder of bridges."

"Like you," Cardinal Kasper told the patriarch, "we are certain that unity is a command of the Lord and a response to the signs of the times in a world that is increasingly united, but at the same time profoundly lacerated by many conflicts."

The unity Christians hope and pray for, he said, will not be the result of "any absorption, or watering down or homogenization, but a unity in reconciled diversity."

Rabbi David Rosen, international director of interreligious affairs for the American Jewish Committee, told participants, "There is an understandable but regrettable tendency among those who are deeply rooted in a religious tradition to be insular and exclusive in their world outlook. While on the other hand, all too often those who are more open to engagement with those different from themselves reflect a superficiality lacking substance."

The biblical model of excellence, though, is of "a luxuriant tree," the rabbi said. It is the image of "one profoundly rooted within his own heritage and yet whose branches reach out as widely as possible providing fruit for all."

Saying that Patriarch Bartholomew is such a man, Rabbi Rosen praised the patriarch's leadership in condemning all violence in the name of religion and in addressing the issue of climate change and care for creation.

"His leadership in the environmental movement, long before it became fashionable, is a reflection of his sincere and genuine care for the cosmos as a whole," he said.

Saying he was humbled by the tributes, Patriarch Bartholomew jokingly told the crowd present, "Don't believe everything you hear!"

The patriarch said that while he was touched by the words of those he has collaborated with and admired, his work "resembles only a drop of water in an ocean of human pain and global suffering."

"We do not rejoice without at the same time recalling and sharing in the suffering of others. And, at the Ecumenical Patriarchate, we certainly never experience joy without remembering that we embody a tradition that has known both glory and martyrdom through the ages," he said.

The celebration serves only as an affirmation "that the bishop, too, is a child of God and a son of the church," the patriarch said. ■

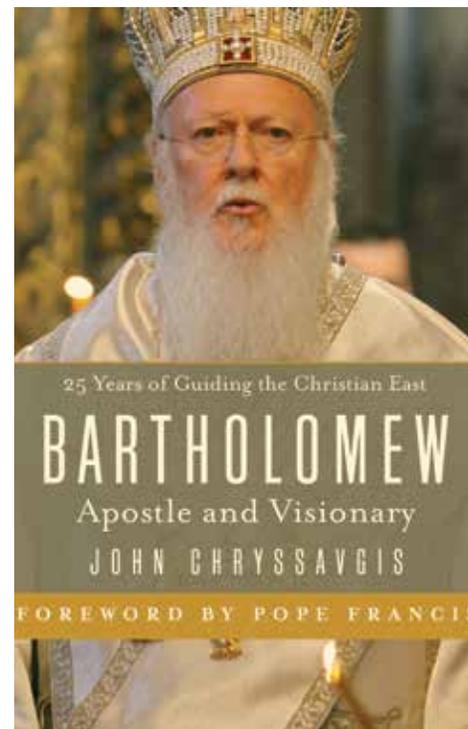

Commemorative biography issued on the accomplishments of His All-Holiness

NEW YORK—Bartholomew: Apostle and Visionary is the first-ever detailed biography of one of the world's foremost Christian leaders, Ecumenical Patriarch Bartholomew, who oversees the Orthodox Church, which boasts 300 million members worldwide. In one of the most remarkable tenures of the patriarchate, it has been more than twenty-five years since Bartholomew first accepted this ministerial position, which is considered "first among equals" of all Orthodox leaders around the world.

The biography authored by John Chryssavgis, is officially sanctioned and supported by the Greek Orthodox Archdiocese of America with unfettered access to church files, Bartholomew's personal notes, and the patriarch himself. For the first time in Vatican history, the book includes a foreword by the leader of the Roman Catholic Church, Pope Francis as well as a contribution by Pope emeritus Benedict XVI and other heartfelt contributions from world dignitaries, influencers, and religious leaders. ■

Archons participate in “Topping Out Ceremony” for Saint Nicholas Greek Orthodox Church and National Shrine

NEW YORK – Saint Nicholas Greek Orthodox Church and National Shrine held a “topping out ceremony” on Nov 28, 2016. This traditional construction ceremony, marking the raising of the highest structural element, was led by His Eminence Archbishop Demetrios of America and attended by representatives of the Port Authority and SKANSKA, as well as the Consul General of Greece, major donors and contributors to the project and members of the original Saint Nicholas Greek Orthodox Church community.

Archon Jerry Dimitriou, Executive Director of the Greek Orthodox Archdiocese of America, and one of the key individuals overseeing the rebuilding efforts, offered thanks to the dedicated men and women who have worked so hard to bring the project this far.

Following a brief prayer service, a temporary cross was lifted into place. Once construction is complete on the dome, the temporary cross will be replaced with the permanent cross that will adorn the top of the Church.

The “topping out ceremony” marks an important milestone in the rebuilding efforts of Saint Nicholas Greek Orthodox Church and National Shrine. ■

Ecumenical Patriarchate’s Religious Freedom issues presented by Archons at annual OSCE Human Rights Conference

WARSAW – Since 2005, the Order has sent a delegation to the Organization for Security and Cooperation in Europe (OSCE) meetings, the largest human rights gathering in Europe to present the violations of human rights and religious freedom asphyxiating the Ecumenical Patriarchate perpetrated by the Republic of Turkey. Archons Constantine G. Caras, Esq. and Dr. Stamatios V. Kartalopoulos represented the Order at this year’s 2016 OSCE Conference in Warsaw, Poland. Archons Caras and Kartalopoulos had a private meeting with the State Department delegation of the United States and provided them with the most current information regarding the status of our Ecumenical Patriarchate in Turkey, the major issues of which we are all aware, the most recent developments and current documents of the Order. ■

Order of Saint Andrew congratulates Archon Reince Hercules Priebus on his selection as White House Chief of Staff

WASHINGTON D.C. – President-elect Donald Trump has named Archon Reince Priebus, an Orthodox Christian, as his White House chief of staff come January 2017.

Archon Priebus has served as state treasurer and Republican party chairman in Wisconsin, and took up the post of Republican National Convention chairman in 2011, becoming a loyal Trump campaign adviser and helping to garner broad support that led to his victory.

Invested in 2011, Archon Priebus is currently an active member of St. Sophia's Greek Orthodox Cathedral in D.C.

Learning of his appointment, National Commander Limberakis issued the following statement:

It is with a great sense of filial pride and joy that the Order of Saint Andrew congratulates Brother Archon Reince Hercules Priebus on his selection by President-elect Donald J. Trump to be the White House Chief of Staff. Archon Reince is known for his devotion to our Holy Orthodox Faith and his patriotism, and reflective of this he keeps on his office lectern The Holy Bible, a copy of the Divine Liturgy of Saint John Chrysostom and of course, as former Chairman of the Republican Party, a copy of the Republican Party Platform.

We are most proud of Archon Reince as he assumes extraordinary responsibility in assisting President-elect Trump in the governance of our beloved nation. May our Triune God grant Archon Reince the wisdom of Socrates and Solomon, the patience of Job and the strength of Hercules blessed with "Every Perfect Gift from Above." ■

The White House Chief of Staff is the highest ranking employee of the White House. The position is a modern successor to the earlier role of the president's private secretary. The role was formalized as the assistant to the president in 1946 and acquired its current name in 1961.
