Former Secretary of State Mike Pompeo A Global Advocate For Religious Freedom Receives Athenagoras Human Rights Award

His Eminence Archbishop Elpidophoros of America, together with Dr. Anthony J. Limberakis, National Commander on October 18, 2025 presented the Athenagoras Human Rights Award to the Hon. Michael R. Pompeo, the 70th Secretary of State of the United States of America. The Award was presented at the annual Athenagoras Human Rights Award Banquet, a black-tie event at the New York Hilton Midtown Hotel in New York City, with well over 600 Archons and guests in attendance.

His All-Holiness Ecumenical Patriarch Bartholomew, in a message commemorating the occasion, observed that Secretary Pompeo is “recognized for his consistent advocacy for religious freedom and his steadfast support of the Ecumenical Patriarchate and other religious minorities during his distinguished public service.”

His Eminence Archbishop Elpidophoros also praised Secretary Pompeo’s dedication to religious freedom, stating that he “has been a leader in the struggle for human rights and guarantees of religious liberty across the globe, and he has a special love and concern for the Ecumenical Patriarchate of Constantinople.” His Eminence added that “in honoring Secretary Pompeo, the Archons of the Ecumenical Patriarchate continues its longstanding tradition of recognizing the best and the brightest among the world’s leaders, choosing persons who offer the world honorable and exemplary service for the betterment of the human family.”

Dr. Limberakis likewise paid tribute to Secretary Pompeo, stating: "Every so often in the public arena, there arises a man who embodies what it means to be a true servant-leader, giving voice to the voiceless and in this case, a forum to address egregious international human rights and religious freedom violations. This evening's honoree, the honorable Michael R. Pompeo, is such a man. Throughout his long and ongoing distinguished career in Washington, Mike Pompeo has consistently labored selflessly to improve the lives of Americans and people all over the world. He has demonstrated a heartfelt and deeply informed concern for the plight of people who have suffered for simply exercising their God-given freedom of conscience, and in particular, for the rights of the Ecumenical Patriarchate in Turkey and persecuted religious minorities all over the world."

In his own remarks, Secretary Pompeo thanked the AEP for the "incredible honor" it had bestowed upon him, and added that "the work done by the Archons of the Ecumenical Patriarchate at home and abroad to protect both the ability of your 300 million Orthodox Christians to practice their faith freely, and for all peoples to enjoy religious freedom, is truly an inspiration." He emphasized that "My relationship with the Archons and with the Orthodox Church holds a special place in my heart, and I've had the privilege of collaborating with you on so many important initiatives to advance religious freedom and human rights, both during my time as Secretary of State and out of office."

Secretary Pompeo also pointed out that "protecting religious freedom around the world is one of America's oldest foreign policy traditions, dating back to the 1800s, when the US government denounced the persecution of Orthodox Christians and other religious minorities living under the Ottoman Empire." He spoke about his efforts as Secretary of State to highlight "issues that previous administrations had soft pedaled, such as the ongoing persecution of the Ecumenical Patriarchate by the Turkish government."

The Secretary declared unequivocally that "from the forced closure of the Halki seminary to the refusal to grant the Church legal identity, to the profound disrespect shown to the Ecumenical Patriarch and his role as leader of the world's 300 million Orthodox Christians, the Turkish government's treatment of the Orthodox Church is textbook religious persecution." He put this conviction into action as Secretary of State: "So when I had the opportunity to meet Patriarch Bartholomew in Istanbul in 2020, I declined to also meet with Turkish officials in order to convey a simple message: This Church must remain independent of the state and free to worship."

Secretary Pompeo went on to applaud the courageous decision of His All-Holiness Ecumenical Patriarch Bartholomew to grant autocephaly to the

Orthodox Church in Ukraine in January 2019, saying: "The wisdom of Patriarch Bartholomew's decision was unfortunately made even clearer by the 2022 invasion of Ukraine, as the Kremlin has continued to use the Russian Orthodox Church as a spy network within Ukraine, and has cynically enlisted Patriarch Kirill to justify Putin's war of aggression as a holy enterprise."

Concluding his remarks, Secretary Pompeo stated: "I thank the Archons of the Ecumenical Patriarchate for upholding that witness in this fallen world, and I pray that America always remains a country dedicated to protecting religious liberty at home and around the world. May God bless His All-Holiness Bartholomew, Archbishop Elpidophoros, the Archons and all of you here tonight, and God bless the United States of America. Thank you."

The Turkish government's treatment of the Orthodox Church is textbook religious persecution.”

I met Mr. Bouras in 1990. His legacy of stewardship is truly extraordinary and set a very high bar for us to follow. He embodied philotimo, philanthropia, and philoxenia — love of honor, charity, and hospitality — and set a towering example of what it means to be a faithful steward. To have my name associated with his, is a profound privilege which I do not take lightly.

—Address of Alexander Pritsos

At the annual Nicholas J. Bouras Award Dinner on October 17, Archon Alexander Pritsos received the 2025 Nicholas J. Bouras Award for Extraordinary Archon Stewardship.

His All-Holiness Ecumenical Patriarch Bartholomew sent his personal congratulations to Archon Pritsos, stating: “Since your investiture as Archon Hieromnimon in 1992, you have exemplified steadfast faith, sacrificial giving, and quiet strength. As the only person ever to hold the office of Sergeant at Arms of the Order, you have provided logistical leadership, often behind the scenes, ensuring that the many ministries and events of the Order, such as the Archon Weekend, the Athenagoras Award Banquet, and national meetings, are executed with excellence and dignity.”

After detailing many of Archon Pritsos' other selfless labors on behalf of the Holy Mother Church, His All-Holiness added: "Because of these manifold labors—many unseen yet indispensable — you have awakened the admiration, gratitude, and affection of so many faithful servants of the Church." That admiration, gratitude and affection were on abundant display on Friday evening.

His Eminence Archbishop Elpidophoros of America noted that "for over thirty years, since his investiture as an Archon in 1992, Alex has served the Order with the same energy and commitment with which he served the Saint Nicholas Parish in Flushing – where he was President of the Parish Council. His service was recognized by the ever-memorable Archbishop Iakovos, who awarded him the highest commendation of our National Church, the Medal of Saint Paul."

Dr. Anthony J. Limberakis stated: "For decades now, Archon Alex Pritsos has been a living embodiment of what it really means to give one's time, talent and resources in support of our Holy Mother Church of Constantinople, the Orthodox Christian Church throughout the United States, and the mission of the Archons of the Ecumenical Patriarchate. It is highly fitting to recognize his long years of selfless service by naming him as the recipient of this prestigious Award. Axios!"

Upon receiving the Award, Archon Pritsos expressed his profound gratitude, stating that "to be singled out with the Nicholas J. Bouras Extraordinary Stewardship Award is an honor I receive with immense gratitude."

Archon Pritsos explained that "for me, the term 'extraordinary stewardship' means accepting that nothing we have is truly ours. Our time, our talents, and our treasures are all gifts, entrusted to us and our only job is to manage those gifts wisely, so they may grow ensuring they multiply for the benefit of others." He emphasized that "this award is not a finish line. It is a powerful reminder that our work is never done, it continues, and our responsibilities deepen. I leave tonight with a heart filled with gratitude and a renewed commitment to upholding the spirit of Nicholas J. Bouras — acting honorably, be generous in my heart, and with my soul anchored in faith."

Honoring Educators

Dr. Helen Nixon & Katina Limberakis Tsatalis

As individuals and as an Archon family, each of us should strive to leave a legacy to inspire our children and our children's children to continue our Orthodox faith. A critical component of this legacy is 'protecting the future of faith,' so that the light of our Orthodox faith can be perpetuated for generations to come."

—National Commander Dr. Anthony J. Limberakis

On October 18, at the Annual Archon Agape Family Luncheon, the Archons of the Ecumenical Patriarchate presented the Archon Sophia Award for Excellence to veteran educators Dr. Helen Nixon and Katina Limberakis Tsatalis, M.Ed. for creating (pro bono) the AEP Ecumenical Patriarchate Catechism School Education Initiative.

Upon receiving the Award, Ms. Tsatalis stated: "We dedicate this award to our Archon Sprouts team and most especially to the countless Sunday school teachers who, with love and perseverance, plant the seeds of faith in the hearts of our children. It is their quiet labor, week after week, that ensures the strength and continuity of our tradition. Helen and I value this honor as both a celebration of what has been achieved and a solemn charge to continue advancing the noble work of education, always in the service to God, His Holy Mother Church, and the generations to come."

Dr. Nixon emphasized: "We want our Orthodox youth to know and understand that they are defenders of our Mother Church. These Sprout lesson plans are the building blocks of a systemic solution to enhance their knowledge and fluency on the Patriarchate and His All-Holiness."

Archons Manos and Tsamutalis New National Treasurer and Assistant Treasurer

Archons Skeadas and Comodromos assume Emeritus Status

With the blessings of His Eminence Archbishop Elpidophoros of America, the National Council at its meeting on December 6, 2025 elected Archon John G. Manos National Treasurer of the Archons of the Ecumenical Patriarchate and Archon Chris E. Tsamutalis, CPA, Assistant Treasurer.

Archons Manos and Tsamutalis succeed Archons Peter J. Skeadas and Andreas D. Comodromos, CPA, who recently informed Dr. Anthony J. Limberakis, National Commander of the Archons of the Ecumenical Patriarchate, of their intention to step down as National Treasurer and Assistant Treasurer, respectively. In recognition of their long and remarkable record of service, Dr. Limberakis invited both Archons Skeadas and Comodromos to assume Emeritus status, and they accepted.

Of the new National Treasurer, Archon John G. Manos, Dr. Limberakis stated: "In ten years as Regional Commander for the Metropolis of Chicago, Archon Manos has infused energy and dynamism into the Archons of Chicago in support of the Ecumenical Patriarchate and the religious freedom initiatives of the Archons nationwide and worldwide. In fact, he and his fellow Regional Commander, Archon Gus (Kosmas) Pablecas, set the bar for Regional Commanders. Archon Manos is superbly qualified to be National Treasurer, as he has extraordinary financial background in the banking industry, having served as President of a major bank, Bank Financial. He also possesses an extraordinary commitment to our Holy Orthodox Faith, the Ecumenical Patriarchate and our Hellenic heritage, and I am grateful to God that the finances of the Archons of the Ecumenical Patriarchate will continue to be in capable hands."

"As Treasurer of the Ecumenical Patriarch Bartholomew Foundation," said Dr. Limberakis, "Archon Chris Tsamutalis, CPA, has proven himself capable of navigating complex economic issues with the highest level of acumen and aplomb. We are all blessed that he will now be devoting his efforts and energies to working with Archon John Manos for the care of the national treasury of the Archons of the Ecumenical Patriarchate. The stellar credentials of both of these men in the financial and accounting fields ensures continued emphasis on the financial pillars of our organization: transparency and accountability. Both are top notch in their field, and both have also demonstrated their devotion to our beloved Holy Mother Church, as FOUNDERS of the Ecumenical Patriarch Bartholomew Foundation."

Regarding the retirement of Archon Skeadas, Dr. Limberakis said: "Archon Peter's lengthy and multifaceted record of devoted service to our beloved Ecumenical Patriarchate and to the Archons, as National Treasurer and in so many other capacities, truly illustrates what it means to be an Archon in the fullest sense. Archon Peter's lifetime of dedication and commitment speaks more eloquently than any word could about what it really means to give of one's time, talent and treasure for the support and defense of our holy Mother Church."

"Likewise," Dr. Limberakis said, "Archon Andreas Comodromos, a Certified Public Accountant, has performed indispens-

During his address, His All-Holiness said, "As national identities seek to reify themselves around certain characteristics – religion often chief among them – they cut themselves off from the nature of diplomacy, embodied here at the State Department. For diplomacy means that one is willing to look at circumstances from the point of view of another. Thus, it requires a capacity, a spaciousness, if you will, to place oneself in another's condition – to be empathetic, and not only sympathetic. Such aptitude is truly apt for every aspect of life, for it keeps one honest about one's own intentions and motivations."

Today's celebration is entitled, "Oceans of Hope," and there is still reason to be hopeful about the future. Our world is over seventy percent water, and the oceans contain over ninety-five percent of that water. A newborn-child is around seventy-five percent water, which decreases as we age. Water is our source of life and well-being and events such as this International Coastal Cleanup Day can help to focus us to address the pressing needs of our day.

Ecumenical Patriarch Bartholomew And Pope Leo Recite The Creed Together During The 1700th Anniversary of Nicaea

In a historic moment—1,700 years after the First Council of Nicaea—His All-Holiness Ecumenical Patriarch Bartholomew and His Holiness Pope Leo XIV gathered in Nicaea, now Iznik, for a profound display of Christian unity. At the conclusion of the prayer service, they recited the Nicene-Constantinopolitan Creed together at the very site where it was first proclaimed and prayed: the ancient Basilica of Saint Neophytos.

Ecumenical Patriarch And Pope Sign Joint Declaration Affirming Commitment To Unity, Rejection Of Violence

At the Phanar, on November 29, 2025, His All-Holiness Ecumenical Patriarch Bartholomew and His Holiness Pope Leo XIV signed an historic Joint Declaration that reiterated their commitment, on behalf of both Churches, to continue to pursue dialogue for the ultimate goal of restoring full communion between the Orthodox Church and the Roman Catholic Church. The Declaration also reaffirms the Hierarchs' mutual rejection of using religion to justify violence. This Joint Declaration will form the foundation of future efforts to heal ancient divisions and heed the words of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ, "that they all may be one" (John 17:21).

His All-Holiness Ecumenical Patriarch Bartholomew, above, stands with His Beatitude Patriarch Theodoros II, Pope and Patriarch of Alexandria, His Eminence Archbishop Elpidophoros of America and Archons. Left, Peter J. Skeadas, National Treasurer Emeritus, delivered remarks during a dinner held in honor of His All-Holiness.

The Declaration firmly rejects religious violence and concludes on an inspiring note of abiding faith in these troubled times: "While we are deeply alarmed by the current international situation, we do not lose hope. God will not abandon humanity."

Archons Undertake Historic Pilgrimage; A Commemoration of Unity at the Birthplace of the Creed

The Archon delegation, led by officers National Treasurer emeritus Peter J. Skeadas, National Secretary Gus (Kosmas) Pablecas and Sergeant-At-Arms Alexander Pritsos, began its pilgrimage to Nicaea, where they stood on the very ground where the early Church Fathers first proclaimed the universal confession of faith that begins, "We believe..."

Walking upon the ancient stones of Nicaea, the Archons reflected on the enduring significance of the Creed, born amid theological controversy yet destined to anchor the unity of Christians across centuries. The visit deepened ones appreciation for the Church's ongoing mission to preserve and proclaim the apostolic faith in a world still marked by division.

Honoring the Legacy of the Seventh Ecumenical Council

The Archons continued to the site of the Seventh Ecumenical Council, held in 787 AD, where the controversy over the veneration of holy icons was resolved and the theology of the Incarnation reaffirmed. Today a mosque, the historic church retains unmistakable spiritual resonance, echoing the courageous witness of the bishops who defended the rightful place of icons in Christian worship.

For the Archons, this visit offered a powerful reminder of the Church's steadfast commitment to truth, beauty, and sacred tradition, even amid centuries of challenge and change.

An Extraordinary Honor: Witnessing a Meeting of Christian Leaders

During the pilgrimage, the Archons were granted the exceptional honor of attending the celebration of the Eastern Divine Liturgy at St. George Cathedral between His All-Holiness Ecumenical Patriarch Bartholomew I and His Holiness Pope Leo XIV, occurring, where ancient hymns, incense, and solemn prayer underscored the continuity of the Church through the ages.

Seeing the Ecumenical Patriarch and the Bishop of Rome together, praying side by side, offered a living, tangible sign of Christian hope and the continuing pursuit of unity first affirmed at Nicaea.

Observing Diakonia and Martyria in the Person of His All-Holiness

Throughout the visit, the Archons were profoundly moved by the diakonia (service) and martyria (witness) embodied by His All-Holiness Ecumenical Patriarch Bartholomew. His gentle humility, pastoral warmth, and unwavering dedication to the Church were evident in every gesture.

His global advocacy for ecological stewardship, human dignity, and inter-Christian dialogue continues to shine as a modern testimony to the Gospel. Standing beside Pope Leo XIV, his witness was magnified demonstrating that unity is not merely a historical aspiration but an urgent call for the present age.

A Pilgrimage That Inspires Action

As official representatives of the Order of Saint Andrew, the three Archons returned from their pilgrimage deeply inspired and renewed in purpose. The encounter with sacred history, the living ministry of the Ecumenical Patriarchate, and the hopeful signs of strengthened Christian brotherhood reinforced their mission and commitment to:

- Promote Orthodox–Catholic dialogue,
- Support the sacred mission of the Ecumenical Patriarchate, and
- Bear active witness to the unity for which Christ prayed: “That they all may be one.”

In Conclusion

The Archon delegation couldn’t help but feel a deep sadness upon entering the glorious Orthodox Cathedrals and Churches that have now been converted into mosques. The sense of repression was perceptible, yet the steadfast fortitude of the Orthodox Christians remains undiminished, sustained by the abiding truth that Christianity endures in the land of Constantinople and by the assurance that God dwells within their hearts. Moreover, the visit to the Halki Monastery and its historic School of Theology offered a profound sense of hope, reminding the delegation of the vital role it has played, and will one day play again in educating and forming priests for future generations. Its legacy stands as a beacon of renewal for our Orthodox faith and a promise of spiritual restoration.

On the Holy ground the Archons walked, stones that once held the footsteps and prayers of the early Patriarchs, clergy and the faithful Orthodox Christians, the Archons felt a reverence that words cannot hold. Despite the diminishing population of Orthodox Christians in a predominantly Muslim nation, the Archons were deeply moved by the unmistakable and enduring presence of the faith in these sacred places. The intrinsic strength of Christianity, rooted not in numbers, but in the living power of the Holy Spirit, was palpable in the air and even in the stones beneath their feet. Though the Christian community today is small, the sense of Orthodoxy remains monumental: a spiritual legacy that has shaped these lands for centuries and continues to radiate a quiet but overwhelming strength. Here, the Archons witnessed firsthand that Orthodoxy endures—then, now, and forever and without question, is the land it sits on.

Forum On Safeguarding The Ecumenical Patriarchate Under Turkish Law And The Critical Importance Of Legal Identity

On November 6, 2025, the Archons Patriarchal Properties and Legal Issues Diakonia Ministry (PPL) held a landmark forum on the critical need for the Ecumenical Patriarchate in Turkey to gain legal identity under Turkish law for its future preservation.

The two speakers were the Hon. Senior Judge Delissa A. Ridgway of the U.S. Court of International Trade and Archon George S. Kounoupis, Esq., Chair of the Legal Identity Subcommittee of the PPL. Judge Ridgway and Archon Kounoupis delivered a highly informative and powerful presentation which highlighted the plight of the Ecumenical Patriarchate in Turkey. They also provided a well-reasoned legal analysis of why it is so important for the Ecumenical Patriarchate to have legal identity under Turkish law, and provided possible actions that might be taken by the Ecumenical Patriarchate to obtain such legal identity.

The event was held at the prestigious University Club in Washington, D.C., which provided a beautiful conference room and delicious hors d'oeuvres, cocktails and desserts. 83 people attended, including many Archons and their family members from Florida to New York, as well as the Washington, D.C. metropolitan area priests, Georgetown and American University students, and business leaders from the Washington area. ## Archon Sisson Travels To Warsaw, Poland For OSCE Conference

At the annual Warsaw Human Dimension Conference of the Organization for Security and Cooperation in Europe (OSCE) on October 13, 2025, Archon Rocky Sisson, Archon Prepositos, spoke forcefully about how the Christian population of Turkey is facing elimination while the world stands idly by.

Archon Sisson spoke at the sixth Plenary Session, which was entitled "Tolerance and Non-Discrimination: Addressing racism, xenophobia and discrimination, anti-Semitism and tolerance and discrimination against Christians, Muslims, and members of other religions." In his remarks, Archon Sisson detailed the actions of the Turkish government toward the Ecumenical Patriarchate that violate universally accepted standards of human rights. He declared that "Accompanying the now near-total eradication of the Greek Orthodox community of Turkey has been a consistent record of legal and institutional discrimination against the Ecumenical Patriarchate of Constantinople, the spiritual center of the world's 300 million Orthodox Christians."

Archon Sisson added: "The Turkish government's goal is clear: it is trying to squeeze the life out of the Ecumenical Patriarchate and completely eliminate the indigenous people of Asia Minor, the Hellenic community, which has been present there for millennia, long predating the Turkish presence."

Archon Rocky Sisson addressed the OSCE's annual Warsaw Human Dimension Conference—Europe's largest annual human rights and democracy conference.
